

Talent Point in Action: Oracy Competition for Elementary School Students

Athens College Elementary School, Email: Izachos@haef.gr, pantoniou@haef.gr

On Saturday, February 1, 2020, the Athens College Elementary School, in collaboration with the Coordinator of the Regional Centre for Educational Planning of Attica, organized a public speaking competition under the title "e Young Orators". The event was open to 6th grade students from local public and private schools.

The aim of this event, which is linked to programs developed by teachers in the course of the Greek Language Curriculum, was to raise awareness among students of issues that concern all of us on a daily basis. In addition, the event was aligned with the National Curriculum. By means of such events, students can:

A. develop the necessary verbal communication skills so that they can express themselves confidently, consciously, responsibly, efficiently and creatively and in so doing become active members of their school community and the wider society.

B. acquire knowledge and skills that are essential for their responsible and active participation in social life while learning to collaborate, analyze and synthesize opinions and arguments, negotiate, disagree and resolve conflicts, decide and present.

Links:

<https://www.haef.gr/en/Schools/AthensCollege/PrimaryAthens/News/2020/February/Mikroi-Ritores>

www.haef.gr