Global Talent Mentoring is an online mentoring program that fosters the world's most outstanding young people who demonstrate exceptional talent and highest motivation in a specific domain within science, technology, engineering, mathematics, and medical sciences (STEMM). Each mentee works with a mentor who has expertise in the mentee's area of interest over an extended period of time (e.g., from around the age of 16 up to the completion of advanced tertiary studies). Free of charge for all participants, the program uses its own innovative online platform and is open to participants around the world, regardless of their cultural background or financial resources. The first round of mentoring will begin in December.

Global Talent Mentoring is the flagship offering of the World Giftedness Center of the UNESCO-recognized Hamdan Bin Rashid Al Maktoum Foundation for Distinguished Academic Performance in Dubai, UAE. Global Talent Mentoring is developed by a team of researchers and IT specialists under the leadership of Prof. Dr. Heidrun Stoeger, who is the chair for school research, development, and evaluation at the University of Regensburg (Germany) and has extensive experience in online mentoring in STEM.

Global Talent Mentoring has international collaborations with 33 partners and counting, which connect the online mentoring program to networks across five continents. The program is supported by leading STEMM experts from around the world and it recently has been endorsed by Prof. Dr. Klaus von Klitzing, Nobel Laureate in Physics. Thanks to the support of its partners in its growing network, Global Talent Mentoring will soon help exceptional mentees to make the most out of their talents and passions. Moreover, online talent development in STEMM has never come at a better time!

To date, hundreds of amazing youths have been nominated to the program by local partners of Global Talent Mentoring (e.g., ministries and talent-support centers). The Global Talent Mentoring team and its partner institutions are currently working hard to find suitable mentors for all future mentees. While many excellent experts have already volunteered, more mentors are needed. If you are a STEMM expert and would like to mentor an exceptional young STEMM talent in your area of expertise, please fill out our mentor volunteer form at www.globaltalentmentoring.org/mentor. Mentor registrations for the next round of mentoring are currently being accepted through 31 July 2020.
